

PROGRESS REPORTS

All undergraduates. In the weeks preceding the drop deadline, course instructors will provide early alert indicators on any students in their classes with below average performance as indicated through absences/ lack of participation, missing/late assignments, or quiz/test results. Some faculty may not assess substantive progress until the Midterm Examination. Faculty members are able to issue an alert or make a referral on individual or groups of students by logging in to myWildcat Success anytime during the semester or term.